TCSI Provider May Webinar

Wednesday 29 May 2024

Agenda

All providers:

- Test environment refresh
- TCSI Data Extracts – new files
- PRODA B2B device activation codes
- Student concordance

VSL providers:

- Reporting Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) in TCSI

Higher Education:

- 2024 Staff data submission and verification
- 2024 Applications and offers collection
- SLEMS – New RTV's and Vertical Double Degree Processing

All providers update

All providers update

Test environment refresh

- The TCSI test environment will go offline from 20 June to 24 June 2024 (inclusive)
- Existing PRODA and mock provider accounts will be retained with reference data

New TCSI data extract files

- Student records in TCSI without an associated HEP or VET record will be returned in “undetermined” extracts:
 - UndeterminedStudentsRecords
 - UndeterminedStudentDisabilities (NEW)
 - UndeterminedStudentCitizenships (NEW)

PRODA device activation codes

- These codes now expire in 60 minutes.
- Make sure you use the code from PRODA as soon as possible

Student concordance

HEP

PIR

Student concordance

Timeline

- Business verification testing 1 June to 7 June 2024
- Full production 7 June 2024 (after the regular production release)

What is student concordance?

- Student concordance allows you to permanently move data packets from the “concording” student record to the “master” student record including all:
 - Course admissions
 - Unit enrolments and any associated loans
 - OS-HELP and SA-HELP loans (HE only)
 - Aggregated and exit awards (HE only)
 - Commonwealth scholarships (HE only)
- The concorded student record will then be deleted
- Student concordance doesn't change the loans on a student's ATO statement

Student concordance

How to submit a student concordance

1. Submit the concordance request

The B2G API may be built by your software vendor

OR

Prepare a file upload to submit the two Student identification codes (E313) in TCSI Data Entry

2. Review and resolve real time validation errors (and repeat step 1 as required):

- Inconsistent details (e.g. name mismatches, citizenship differences)
- Duplicate records (e.g. unit enrolments sharing a unit of study code and census date)

3. Check the successfully concorded student in TCSI

Check that all the details attached to the master student record are correct
(you can check in TCSI Data Entry or request a TCSI data extract)

4. Check your student management system / source of truth

Further work may be required to make sure your system is aligned with TCSI

Student concordance

Checking your source of truth

WARNING!!!

- Your student management software may delete, update or re-create records in an unpredictable way if it isn't aligned with the concordance outcome
- Your future file uploads in TCSI Data Entry might not work properly if they don't include the concorded information, for example you might:
 - Re-create the student record you concorded
 - Remove disability and citizenship history
 - Trigger errors because identifiers have changed:
 - “Unable to find <RECORD TYPE> with the provided identifying elements”

Student concordance

File upload in TCSI Data Entry

- Upload file:

	A	B	C
1	Information Type	E313 Student Identification Code (master)	E313 Student Identification Code (concording)
2	Student Concordance	123	678
3	Student Concordance	abc	efg
4	Student Concordance	xyz	wrong-id

- Response file:

1	New/Existing Record	Attempted Action	Outcome	Error Code	Severity	Error Description	Information Type	E313 Student Identification Code (master)	E313 Student Identification Code (concording)

Reporting Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) in TCSI

VET

RPL reporting for VSL providers

- An issue was identified in September that is impacting the reporting of Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) units.
- The workaround is to create the unit first and then update the details as a second action.
- Details of the workaround are on the Outstanding Issues in Production list on the TCSI Support website.
 - See issue number 454109

Step One - Report the unit enrolment

Report the unit enrolment with the following:

- Unit of study status code (E355) of '4'
- Recognition of prior learning code (E577) of 'Blank/NULL'
- EFTSL (E339) of '0.01'

Step Two - Update the unit enrolment to include RPL

Update (PATCH) the RPL unit to the following:

- Unit of study status code (E355) of '5'
- The appropriate Recognition of prior learning code (E577)
- EFTSL (E339) of '0.000000001'

2024 Staff data submission and verification

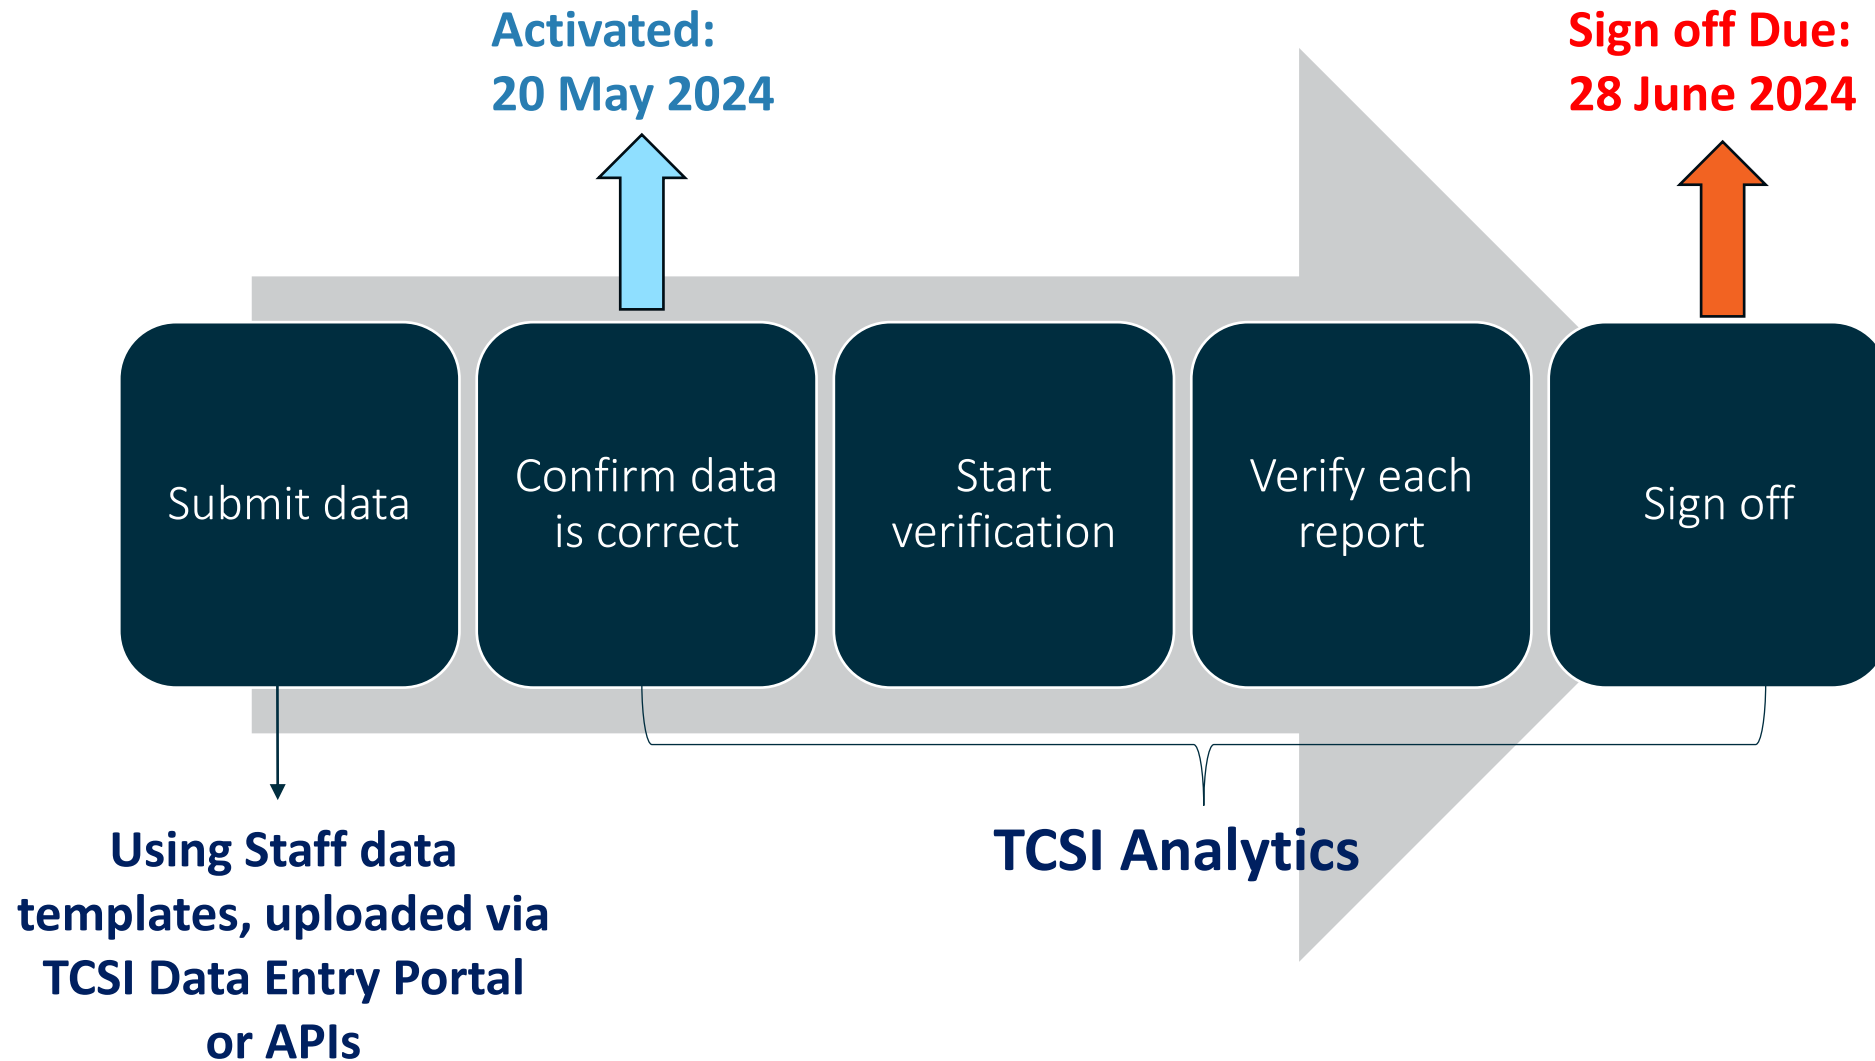

What is staff data verification?

- For Universities, staff data submission and verification are part of providers' reporting requirements under the Higher Education Support Act 2023 (HESA). In scope staff need to be reported and verified as part of the staff data verification process.
- For all other higher education providers, staff data submission and verification are part of providers' reporting requirements under the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency Act 2011 (TEQSA) and form part of the TEQSA provider information request. In scope, academic staff need to be reported and verified as part of the staff data verification process

Background

- As part of the ongoing work to enhance the Student Learning Entitlement Management System (SLEMS), amendments to the processing of Vertical Double Degrees were made to ensure students are receiving the correct allocation of Additional SLE (ASLE).
- Further work has been undertaken to create additional warning RTV's to help increase provider visibility and assist them in managing the Student Learning Entitlement (SLE) policy.

Course Load RTV 10924

- A new warning RTV – RTV10924 was deployed with the intent of warning providers where a student may not have sufficient SLE to complete the entirety of their course load in a Commonwealth Supported Place (CSP).
- This warning will trigger when a course admission is reported for a student that results in their total course load exceeding their SLE amount. This is intended to prompt providers to discuss with students their ongoing enrolments and SLE utilisation.

What is Additional SLE (ASLE)

- Acknowledging that some students will require greater than 7 EFTSL of study in a CSP to complete their studies, ASLE is extra entitlement (expressed in EFTSL) awarded to students who enrol in certain course types. The courses that will award ASLE are:
 1. An undergraduate course of study that has a course load of greater than 6 EFTSL
 2. An honours course of study that has a course load equal to or less than 1 EFTSL
 3. A postgraduate or graduate entry bachelor course of study

How does SLEMS calculate Additional SLE for postgraduate/graduate entry bachelor courses?

- Where the student meets the citizenship eligibility requirements
 - E358 = 1, 2, 3, 8 or P
- And the student enrolled in a course type that awards Additional SLE on or after 1 January 2022
 - E310 = 04, 05, 06, 07, 08, 11, 12 or 14
- They will receive an amount of Additional SLE equal to the course load (E350) minus the EFTSL value of any Additional SLE they have previously consumed.

Vertical Double Degree Table – Why is it Required

- Where a vertical double degree is reported in TCSI as a single course it will have one course type code (E310) that refers to the course as either undergraduate or postgraduate.

Only postgraduate components should attract ASLE, e.g.

- If the E310 code indicates that the course a Commonwealth Supported student is enrolled in is postgraduate, they will be awarded ASLE. However as only one E310 code can be linked to a vertical double degree the ASLE is calculated using both postgraduate and undergraduate components, resulting in the student being awarded more ASLE than what they are entitled to.
- Conversely, if the E310 code indicates that the course is undergraduate, then they would not be awarded any ASLE.

Vertical Double Degree Table – Why is it Required

- For example: Provider A offers a Bachelor of Commerce/Master of Management with a course load of 4 EFTSL, this is made up of the following components:
 - Bachelor of Commerce – 3 EFTSL
 - Master of Management – 1 EFTSL
- If the Bachelor of Science/Master of Teaching course is reported as an undergraduate course where:
 - E310 = 10 - Bachelors Pass
 - E350 = 4 EFTSL
 - The student would not receive any Additional SLE instead of the correct 1 EFTSL
- Alternatively, if the course is reported as Masters (Coursework) course where:
 - E310 = 04 - Masters (Coursework)
 - E350 = 4 EFTSL
 - The student will receive 4 EFTSL of Additional SLE instead of the correct 1 EFTSL
- The Vertical Double Degree table will identify the EFTSL value of the postgraduate component of vertical double degrees, ensuring students are correctly awarded ASLE.

- The Department has finalised the design to process vertical double degrees in SLEMS and correctly award Additional SLE (ASLE).
 - A request was sent to sector on 16 April requesting details on any Vertical Double Degree's offered, with responses provided on 9 May.
 - This has resulted in the creation of a new SLE table containing all Vertical Double Degrees offered by providers, which will include the EFTSL value of the postgraduate component of each course.
 - Thank you to the providers who provided advice regarding input for the Vertical Double Degree Table.

- When a provider reports a course admission for an eligible student that matches the fields in this table, SLEMS will award the student with an amount of ASLE equal to the EFTSL value of the postgraduate component of the course minus any ASLE they have previously consumed.
- The table will be populated with input received from providers and reflected in SLEMS June 2024. This will result in existing student records being reprocessed to ensure they have the correct amount of ASLE awarded where they were enrolled in a listed course on or after 1 January 2022
- Courses listed in the table will be periodically reviewed by the Department. If any details for courses you offer change, or you offer new vertical double degrees, please contact: studentlearningentitlement@education.gov.au
